DEDICATION

We, the literary editors, (with the help of our friends) tried to think of some original way to thank the two original people to whom this yearbook is dedicated. Alas! What we kept coming up with sounded very much like the Boy Scout Oath! Thus, we have decided to simply thank them for the most wonderful gift that teachers (counselors, directors, class sponsors...) can give to their students-time. Thank you, Mrs. Clark and Mr. Koetter, for giving us your time.

ACTIVITIES

HELLO DAY

This year's Rowland Hall-St. Mark Hello Day was an enthusiastic introduction to the 1977-78 school year.

Faculty and students were introduced to their classes and classmates through activities planned to bring the school community closer together.

The day began with an assembly in the chapel where Mr. Evans and Mr. Purdy greeted new and returning students, and introduced the new faculty members. Afterwards, students followed a schedule of their classes and became acquainted with their teachers and the expectations for the upcoming year. Students then grouped for class meetings, while the seniors made a delicious picnic lunch. After lunch, a chalk drawing contest was held on the tennis court and the selection of the winning team signaled the end of the day's festivities.

YOSEMITE

In October, a group of 9th and 10th grade Biology students went to Yosemite National Park with Mr. Cooley and Mrs. Turpin. There, they studied the flora, fauna, geology, anthropology and ecology of the park. Activities included the study of valley and mountain areas, a bike tour of the valley and a look at man's impact on the environment. After an inspirational week, they returned to their classes at R.H.S.M. with renewed vigor.

INTERNATIONAL BAZAAR

R.H.S.M.'s bazaar was once again a great success. Students, faculty, parents and the local community participated in games, a raffle and a gala dinner. Visitors got a chance to sample their favorite palate pleasers from France, Asia, Scandinavia and other parts of the world, while being entertained by a variety of international dancers and a student-teacher "gong" show. Funds raised by the bazaar this year will go to support school activities and to buy classroom equipment.

BEYOND THE CLASSROOM

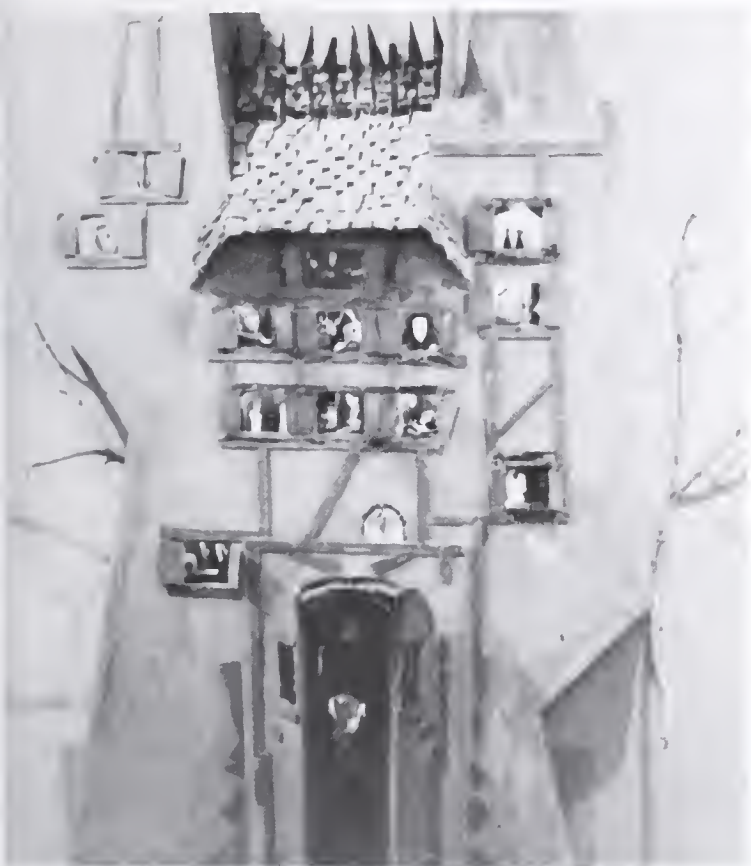

R.H.S.M.'s educational experiences do not stop with the classroom experience. Each year many classes take trips to supplement their curriculum. Some of the trips taken this year were a 7th grade trip to fossil fields in Wyoming, anthropology trips to the zoo and the Utah Natural History Museum, and an 8th grade humanities trip to the U. of Utah Fine Arts Museum.

ASSEMBLIES

The 1977-78 assembly season began with Brent Myers and Dorothy Arnold presenting selections from their Oct. 9th recital at the Utah Museum of Fine Arts. During the year we were treated to other cultural, scientific, and special events, including a blue grass concert given by Ralph Stanley and the Clinch Mountain Boys, two slave auctions, academic recognition of honor roll students, a concert given by Karen Gibbs, and a presentation by a representative of NASA.

STUDENT ART DECORATES THE DINING ROOM

CANDLE AND CAROL

This year's Candle and Carol Christmas service combined the traditions of the Jewish and Christian communities. The theme was the "Service of Light" and the program was prepared and presented by the Rt. Rev. E. Otis Charles, the Rev. Walter C. Ellingson, Rabbi Abner Bergman, and Cantor David Serkin. The RHSM choir, under the direction of Brent Meyers, performed various styles of religious music and chanting, and a candle dance, choreographed by Susan Jarman, was performed by a group of dance students.

The 1978 interim program consisted of many educational and entertaining activities. There were trips to New Orleans, Mexico, San Diego, Southern Utah, and Cedar City. Meanwhile, back at school, students studied Typing I, Batik and Tie Dye, Needlepoint, Math/English SAT Review, Theatrical and Costume Design, Stargazing, Winter Mountaineering, Probability, Karate, Basic Cooking, Pottery, Genealogy, Teaching Assistance, and Independent Projects. The purpose of interim is to expand the students' educational horizons through first-hand experience.

STUDENT GOV'T

R. H. S. M. 's student government is an elected body of students which determines the behavioral standards for school activities. The group is made up of four senior prefects, who each serve a one-quarter term; one student representative-at-large, elected by the entire student body; and two representatives per class.

The group, which meets in the Headmaster's Dining room Wednesday during lunch period, is sponsored by Robert Cooley.

DEBATE

This year's debate team dealt with the topic "the American health care system." They met in a class taught by Joane White, and also met during the evening for practice rounds. The group participated in several local and out-of-state tournaments.

ACTIVITY PERIODS

Twice each week, RHSM students met during a special forty-five minute activity period to learn new skills and to enjoy a break from their academic schedules. Science fiction, audio-visual techniques, square dancing, gourmet cooking, block carving, tapestry and embroidery, Model U.N., Santa's elves, math review, and yearbook production were all classes offered. These activities gave students and teachers a chance to share knowledge about non-classroom topics.

The newly organized Spanish Club, according to Mary Anne Weder, was developed to "further the cultural experience of its members." The group has enjoyed the food and atmosphere in several Mexican restaurants.

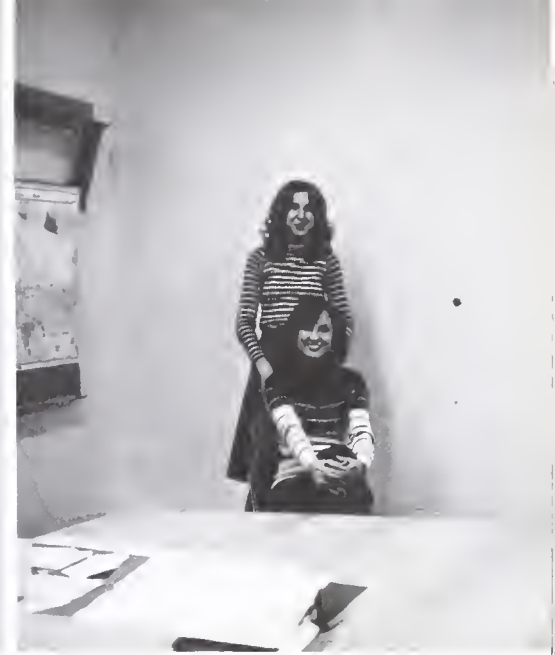

Preparing French foods to sell during lunch has been one of the activities of the French Club. With the money they earned, the members of the club were able to experience the French cuisine at La Caille restaurant. When asked for a quote, Patty Kimball replied, "French is the language of love."

George Pence believes that "Latin is the basic language," and the purpose of the newly-created Latin Club is to "strive for the promotion of the appreciation of classical culture." A booth at the Bazaar, singing Christmas carols in Latin, and a Latin orgy were some of the club's projects.
